

To whom it may concern,

Our high school is situated in a well known touristic area in the north of Tenerife; that's one of the reasons we consider studying languages one of the main objectives in our educational project. We teach English, French and German to students aged between 12 and 25 years old. These languages are taught in different levels of studies, that is, Secondary Education, "Bachillerato" (two years before entering university or professional studies) and medium or high level vocational training courses. Our centre is also implied in different European projects where the three languages are used, obviously, for communications purposes. In the past, we have developed Leonardo, Erasmus and Comenius projects, and nowadays we focus on Erasmus+, doing training periods not only for our students but also for our teachers.

Throughout years we have been assigned language assistants who have made a great labour helping us improve the communication skills of our students, especially listening and speaking abilities. They are usually university students who come to our school in order to improve their Spanish or teaching skills. That cooperation implies benefits for both, those university students and our pupils. That is why we are so interested in counting with their presence in our high school as part of our teacher's team.

You can find any further information about us in our brand new Erasmus+ website at <http://erasmusplus.iespuertodelacruz.es/>

Kind regards,
